

The Executive Decision Making System™

The Executive Decision Making System is a structured system designed to streamline executive team meetings and board-of-director meetings. EDMS saves and reallocates an organization's most critical resource – time.

Why EDMS?

Typical meetings consume too much time with too little time focused on strategy. EDMS provides a proven framework for planning and executing highly-productive meetings.

EDMS can:

- Slash the time executive decision makers spend on reports, briefings and updates when this time can be spent much more efficiently
- Accelerate the time it takes to make high-quality decisions with better preparation and thinking by all parties involved
- Address major issues you always wanted to address, but never had the time. EDMS does more than give you time – it actually saves you time, and reallocates how you spend your time.

Who needs it?

- CEOs and key leaders who are frustrated with ineffective board and executive team meetings
- Complex organizations with six to twelve members on their executive team and board of directors

- Drastically reduce and improve critical decision-making time
- Hold fewer, more productive meetings that yield greater results
- Quickly address and solve issues your organization must overcome

“EDMS has shortened the amount of time we spend in meetings and it has helped us focus our time strategically. Calculate how much time you and staff have spent in meetings for the last two weeks against the real decisions that were made. It will be crystal clear that you can't afford not to do EDMS.”

“EDMS helped our Senior Management meetings become dramatically more productive and has increased work flow from the bottom up. It has also decreased our weekly meetings to bi-weekly and we get more done...especially regarding strategic thinking.

I would not hesitate to make the decision to move on this product. You will not regret the expense as it is worth its weight in gold if used as prescribed.”
